Community Support Team (CST): Unmarked Burials

The Community Support Team is a partnership between the Children of Shingwauk Alumni Association (CSAA) and NORDIK Institute. The CSAA have marked many achievements, despite uncertainty for those leading searches for Indigenous children that did not return home from Residential Schools across Canada.

The Unmarked Burials project is focused on giving voice to the Survivors of Indian Residential Schools, sharing their truths, and undertaking a grounds-search at the former Shingwauk Indian Residential School (present-day Algoma University, where NORDIK is headquartered) for unmarked graves.

Secure login page and and Database main Dashboard for the Shingwauk Database

Coroner's Office with Nellie Mitchel and the Survivors

Community Support Team members with Survivors during Database demonstration

As part of the truth-telling component of this project, CSAA, NORDIK's CST, and the Office of the Chief Coroner of Ontario's Residential School Death Investigation Team (RSDIT) co-developed the Shingwauk Database. Since 2021, RSDIT conducted a series of investigations, combing through thousands of archived records, related to deaths at Indian Residential Schools in Ontario. The intent is to make Residential School records more accessible to the Survivors, their families, communities, and the public. NORDIK's staff created specialized programming and data stewardship to develop a user-friendly, cost-effective, cloud based solution.

Survivors and their families at the entrance of the former Shingwauk Indian Residential School (present-day Algoma University), during the Life After Residential School gathering in August 2025.

Crown-Indigenous Relations and Northern Affairs Canada
Relations Couronne-Autochtones et Affaires du Nord Canada
Ontario
Northern Ontario Research, Development, Ideas and Knowledge NORDIK INSTITUTE